

Successful together: Managing and controlling burglary and theft risks

Benefit from the expertise and competence in security of VdS

Reliable security at the highest level is our common goal: To achieve this, we work with you to develop concepts and solutions for your comprehensive burglary and theft protection. Regardless of whether it's critical infrastructures, museums with valuable cultural assets, logistics centres as sensitive risk factors in the supply chain or data centres with high security and availability requirements. VdS's qualified experts act as neutral sparring partners for your team.

Making the right decisions from the start

We take the relevant VdS guidelines, relevant norms and applicable standards into account as early as the planning stage for essential security measures. In this way, you can be sure that you are complying with legal requirements and the requirements of insurance companies and insurance policies.

We can also help you and your service providers to assess your individual requirements with a long-term view of technological developments. This enables you to make efficient, future-proof investment decisions and avoid unnecessary costs before they arise.

Our advice: Your optimum security

A sound risk analysis and a sustainable concept are the basis for effective protection. We can help you with this - including regular reviews of all measures and protection targets to ensure optimum security and protection in the long term.
